Endorsement of the European Charter for Researchers and Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers

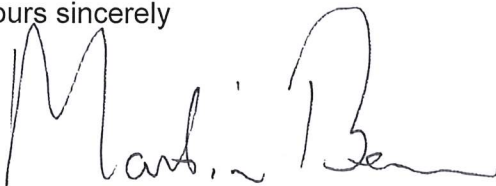

RMIT University fully endorses the general rules of The European Charter for Researchers and The Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers.

Many of the good practice principles presented in both documents have already been applied at our university and we are committed to address and implement the remaining regulations included in the Charter and the Code.

The University not only supports the work and development of individual researchers, but also places significant focus on research integrity in undertaking high quality research. In adopting the framework of the Human Resources Strategy for Researchers we aim to embed this process in the wide array of current activities in the area of human resources.

By implementing the Charter and Code, the University aims to attract the most outstanding researchers within the European Research Area and beyond.

Yours sincerely
