Mr. European Commissioner,

The Jean Moulin University, member of the University de Lyon, hosts more than 29,000 students. University de Lyon obtained in February 2017 the IDEX label which recognizes its quality of academic site of excellence with an international vocation.

Our institution places research at the heart of its strategy. Research is developed in connection with major societal issues within 7 doctoral schools and 19 research units accredited by the Ministry of Higher Education and Research. To provide its staff with quality working conditions, recruitment and environment, especially in the field of research, our university is part of a continuous improvement process.

Thus, on July 5, 2016 we engaged our university on the "Human Resources Strategy for Researchers" process after having adopted the European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Good Practice in Recruitment. We thus affirm our desire to take an active part in the construction of the European Higher Education and Research Area.

The University is now formally filing its "HR Excellence in Research" certification application by proposing its human resources strategy for researchers.

Please accept, Mr. European Commissioner, the expression of my respectful greetings.
