Declaration of Endorsement of and Commitment to the European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers (Charter and Code)

In a letter dated November the 25th 2019, Jean Monnet University had already stated its commitment to European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers. It had undertaken the HRS4R labelling process by appointing a project director, a strategic committee and by setting up a working group.

However, in the spring of 2020, Jean Monnet University experienced an institutional crisis. The resignation of the former President in January 2021 was followed by the appointment of a temporary administrator until the election of a new governance in May 2021.

This governance wishes to continue the work accomplished by the previous team and therefore restates its commitment.

Jean Monnet University, represented by its new President, Florent Pigeon, fully endorses the principles of the European Charter for Researchers and the Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers.

Many of these principles have already been implemented in our organisation.

Jean Monnet University hereby declares its commitment to further implement these principles of Charter and the Code via the Human Resources Strategy for Researchers (HRS4R).

Jean Monnet University not only supports the work and development of individual researchers, but also aims to maintain the high quality of research in general.

We strongly believe that implementing these principles of the Charter and Code will contribute to further develop the European Research Area.

Best regards,

Florent Pigeon

President of Jean Monnet University
