

ドイツ、欧州で広げる研究国際ネットワーク

Enhance your international network in Germany and Europe

Science and research are driven by curiosity and encounters with the new and unknown. The exchange of ideas and arguments is essential to generate new knowledge and innovation. This means a career in science and research can lead you to foreign countries and new frontiers, can get you in contact with other cultures, and can keep you always inspired.

If you want to be part of a global research community and work with colleagues from all over the world on new solutions for humanity on local, regional and global level, you should try to enhance your international network in Germany and Europe.

INFORMATION DAY at Hiroshima University with...

- ▶ advice from experts for research funding about fellowships and scholarships in Germany and Europe in a presentation session,
- ▶ advice and support fitted to your own career plans at individual advice sessions,
- ▶ and first hand information on flexible career and funding opportunities.
